Passing of Dwayne "Rocky" Rhodes

Rocky was a long-time member of the NY NATP Board and Education Committee as well as a Chapter Instructor. He was generous and kind. A memorial tribute will be forthcoming in next month's newsletter, but for now please remember the lesson Rocky taught his fellow Chapter board members: "no one gets to heaven and complains they did not get more returns completed. They get there and mourn missing life's events"

Form 1099-K – Reporting Amounts Included in Error or Personal Items Sold at a Loss

The IRS has revised Schedule 1 (Form 1040) to simplify the reporting of personal items sold at a loss or amounts included in error on Form 1099-K.

Beginning with the 2024 tax year, Schedule 1 (Form 1040) includes a new line at the top of the form specifically for entering amounts reported on Form(s) 1099-K that were either included in error or reflect the sale of personal items sold at a loss. This update eliminates the need for the previously recommended reporting method, which required taxpayers to report erroneous income on one line (8z) and the corresponding offset on another line (24z).

The form's instructions also include a reminder for taxpayers to ensure that all other amounts reported on Form 1099-K are appropriately reported elsewhere on the return, depending on the nature of the transactions. For instance, amounts related to self-employment income should be reported on Schedule C.

This revision aims to streamline the filing process for taxpayers and reduce errors associated with reconciling amounts reported on Form 1099-K.

Additionally, on November 26, 2024, the IRS announced new 1099-K reporting thresholds. The threshold will decrease to $5,000 in 2024, $2,500 in 2025, and $600 in 2026, unless further changes are made.

Working for NYC but Living Outside the City: What Tax Experts Need to Know

by Joy Williams

Did you or your clients ever live in the Big Apple but decide that suburban life was more appealing? Perhaps they work for NYC agencies like NYPD, MTA, Sanitation, or Housing, but reside in Long Island, Westchester, New Rochelle, or even Orange County. The issue arises: they're paying New York City taxes—but should they be?

As we know, three (3) factors to meet the filing requirements

Hiring Date: This requirement applies to employees hired on or after January 4, 1973

Residency Status: Nonresidents for any part of the year

Payment Amount: The payment equals what you would owe if you were a NYC resident—it's not technically a tax, but a condition of employment

Why Are Non-Residents Paying NYC Taxes?

New York City employees—regardless of where they live—see NYC taxes deducted from their paychecks. But here's the good news: they may be entitled to a refund through Form 1127!

The NYC-1127: A Hidden Tax Secret

Form 1127 allows non-resident NYC government employees to recover a portion of the city taxes withheld from their paychecks. If your client works for a city agency but lives outside the five boroughs, they should be filing this form to potentially claim a refund. According to NYC.gov, the refund process ensures these workers are only taxed on what an NYC resident would owe after deductions and credits.

Key Facts:

- Who Must File? Any NYC government employee who is a non-resident must file Form 1127 if they received an 1127.2 statement from their employer (source: NYC Department of Finance).
- How to File? The return must be filed online via NYC e-Services or mailed to the NYC Department of Finance (source: NYC.gov/311).
- What's Needed? A copy of the client's New York State tax return and wage statement (Form 1127.2) must be included.
- Refund Timeline? Processing can take up to 60 days, and refunds are issued via the same method as payroll deposits (source: NYC.gov).

Don't Leave Refunds on the Table!

Many NYC employees who live outside the city don't realize they qualify for a refund. As tax professionals, it's our job to ensure they get every dollar they're entitled to. Double-check your clients' residency status and make sure they're not overpaying city taxes!

Need more details? Visit NYC.gov or call 311 for official information. Let's keep our clients' finances in top shape—because every refund counts!

Scheduling withholding tax payments and e-filing first-quarter 2025 returns from NYS DTF

The Tax Department is streamlining withholding tax and wage reporting forms and Web File applications. Due to these upcoming improvements:

you cannot currently schedule payments for dates after March 20, 2025; and you cannot currently electronically file first-quarter 2025 Form NYS-45, Quarterly Combined Withholding, Wage Reporting, and Unemployment Insurance Return.

If you need to report you permanently ceased paying wages subject to withholding prior to March 20, 2025, you must submit a paper Form NYS-45.

When our improvements are live, you will be able to resume scheduling payments and begin electronically filing first-quarter NYS-45 returns. To stay up to date, subscribe to Withholding tax.
